

PRECYSE SOLUTIONS ADDS EXECUTIVES, REALIGNS AROUND SERVICE LINES ADDITIONAL LEADERSHIP NEEDED TO MANAGE GROWTH

Wayne, PA – March 10, 2009

Precyse Solutions, a leading provider of clinical documentation software, workflow tools and consulting services, is adding two executives and realigning its organization by service and solution line in order to best manage its growing client base and resource pool. Joining Precyse are John Pitsikoulis, Vice President of Audit and Education Services and James Stewart, Vice President of Staffing Solutions.

Pitsikoulis will oversee the business operations for Precyse's Audit and Education Services as well as its Clinical Documentation Improvement (CDI) and Recovery Audit Contractor (RAC) programs. Pitsakoulis brings over 20 years of Health Information Management (HIM) and hospital revenue cycle consulting experience to his new role. For the past five years, Pitsikoulis served as a Director in PricewaterhouseCoopers' Healthcare Consulting Practice, where he was national product leader for the firm's CDI, RAC, MS-DRG PPS, and inpatient rehabilitation PPS services. In addition to his operational responsibilities, Pitsikoulis will be involved in Precyse's business development activities with current and prospective clients.

James Stewart will focus his efforts on oversight of the HIM Staffing Services and resource management for all HIM solutions. Stewart has almost 20 years of recruitment process outsourcing and staffing experience in the healthcare, pharmaceutical and technology industries. Most recently, Stewart served as executive vice president of Kopos and Baker Inc., an international holding company providing world-class staffing solutions. Stewart's experience with creating and delivering rapid deployment staffing models, combined with his ability to create scalable platforms for quality recruitment strategies will be instrumental to his role with Precyse, as well as bring tangible value to clients.

Jeffrey S. Levitt, founder and Chief Executive Officer of Precyse, explains the drivers behind the company's growth, "As our hospital clients continue to focus on cost management, cash flow acceleration and seek the benefits of full computerization of electronic health records, they are reaping great benefits from implementing best practices and platform solutions in HIM. Precyse is fortunate to enjoy a strong reputation for delivering experienced resources, armed with best practices and technology solutions that help solve these kinds of issues. The combination of the hospitals' needs and our ability to meet these needs has spurred additional growth for Precyse. We think that both John and James will bring the high-performing, innovative industry and managerial expertise we need to continue to evolve and further grow our organization."
